HANDING ON VALUES TO OUR CHILDREN

In the past week all parents of: Infants (Junior & Senior) Classes, First Communion Classes Confirmation Classes, received a letter inviting them to get involved in a Parents Programme. Its to help and support them link with the school in promoting the new Grow in Love Programme and to prepare for important stages in the children's school years. It's in two parts:

... Talks which will meaningfully address what we believe as Christians and how we can practically apply Christian Values to our lives.

.... After each talk Parents will be invited to carry on the conversations in the home.

Children occupy a central place in the home, in Parent's lives. At a time when Busyness, Social Media, etc., occupy us all but especially parents, they need support.

A new Programme 'Grow in Love' has begun in the schools.

This new Programme will bring about significant change in the way we hand on the Christian story. A vital part of this will be in the way Parents connect into it.

The author of this Programme is Dan O'Connell. He is a lecturer in Mary Immaculate College, Limerick. He will be the speaker at the three talks in Sixmilebridge Church beginning next Wednesday evening November 11th at 7.30 p.m.

The aim of the Parents Programme is to support and encourage parents not to place another burden. It will open up ways of connecting with Christ and Christian values with the reality of life as lived in a world of change, restlessness, worry. Events in Ireland now are bringing home to us we need to pause and reflect on the values we are handing on to the next generation.

This upcoming Programme should help us on this journey.

To coincide with Science Week 2015, which takes place from Monday 9th November, pupils at Sixmilebrdge NS will be participating in the Intel Mini Scientist Exhibition. The programme gives primary school students the opportunity to explore science through project based learning and exhibitions and allows them to develop science related projects which are then exhibited at a school science fair. Senior pupils will also travel to the University of Limerick to participate in a Science & Technology Workshop.

Dyslexia Awareness Week will be held at the school next week to raise awareness and a greater understanding of dyslexia. A range of activities have been planned for pupils and there will be a presentation to pupils by Dr. Pauline Cogan from Trinity College. Many thanks to all those who have provided prizes for the pupils' art competition.
