TELLING THE TRUTH

Whenever we hear of an association, an organisation, an institution or a party, - whether its voluntary, political, religious— 'cleaning-up things' we immediately hear the words integrity, honesty, truth. These are essential values if there is to be trust. We have been through difficult times in our Church, our Banks, Our Political life. We are now experiencing a 'cleansing' in each one of them, or at least we hope we are. We will need evidence. We will need to know that there are no inner circles - hiding the truth; must be a thing of the past. And we will need to let people, who hold on to power for power-sake, know that we do not trust them. And, as it applies to organised bodies, it also applies to you and me and in a very special way to the most basic units in society - family and community.

These values are Christian values - they are real and they are practical. If you are sick, they are real for you when dealing with your doctor. If you are doing business with your bank they are real for you and the same in your Church. And, above all, these are real for you at home. Parents need to trust one another and they need to trust their children. So these are very basic values if people are to get on with one another. They are an integral part of our Christianity. Jesus said: 'I'm the Way, the Truth, and the Life' Trusting one another gives us life and that comes from telling the Truth and that is the Christian way.
